

Congress is now poised to consider final passage of the health care reform legislation. As you know, the House already approved H.R. 3962, the Affordable Health Care for America Act, in November and the Senate approved its version of health care reform legislation in December.

After reviewing the final version of the Health Care reform legislation, I have decided to support the bill. You can read more about my decision here.

This page is your portal for information about the final health care bill, as well as the previous House and Senate versions of the bill. Read below to learn more about the specific provisions that are in the bill, the benefits it will provide, and more.
